Mechanical Category

April 14, 2012—During CAL SMACNA's Closing Business Session, the recipients for the Tom Guilfoy Memorial Craftsmanship of the Year Awards were unveiled. The Architectural Award category was presented to Brady Air Conditioning, Inc. in So. San Francisco, California and a member of the Bay Area Chapter for their project of the 1905 Samuel Murphy Windmill (Phase 1B) Historical Restoration, Golden Gate Park. The Dutch style windmill is one of the largest in the world, standing over ten stories tall. Brady Air Conditioning was commissioned to fabricate and install the copper locking panels to cover the restored dome. The unique shape of the dome created a set of challenges in the fabrication process and installation of the locking panels. The Mechanical Award category was presented to Control Air North, Inc. in Hayward, California and a member of the Bay Area Chapter for their project of the Li Ka-Shing Center for Biomedical and Health Sciences, University of California, Berkeley. The unique and highly specialized facility required extensive air filtration systems resulting in uncommonly large ductwork and equipment. Lean construction techniques and sustainable environment design features for energy efficiency were integrated throughout the project.

Congratulations to both companies!
